

As students choosing to attend classes at KEYS and as a part of a community of believers,

We pledge together:

- I agree to respect all authority and willingly submit to their guidance without complaint.
- I agree to respect other's consciences, needs, and property (including, but not limited to property of the Community Church of Chesapeake). I will put others above myself.
- I agree to be self-governing. That is, I will exercise self control and be responsible for my own behavior.
- I agree to keep my peers accountable, not simply relying on adult intervention. When situations arise, I will try my best to resolve the issue with the person. I will speak up if someone is doing something wrong because I want the best for them in the long run.
- I agree to come to class prepared with my textbook, paper, pencils, homework, and anything else required.
- I agree to fulfill all responsibilities and complete my assignments on time.
- I agree not to cheat.
- I agree to save socializing for a time after class.
- I agree not to bring an iPod, computer, or other electronic device on campus. If I carry a cell phone on campus, I will keep it powered off and out of sight from 8:00-5:30.
- I agree to present myself in a way that is morally sound and agreeable in how I dress, how I act, and what I say.
- I agree to be involved in the KEYS community, read the weekly newsletter (sent via email), and attend monthly convocations.
- I agree not to participate in public displays of affection with the opposite gender.
- I agree not to use profane language.
- I agree not to walk off campus without an adult.
- I agree to abide by all rules spelled out in KEYS Policies, even when I do not immediately understand the purpose behind them.

In the interest of maintaining an ideal educational environment where students can grow and learn academically, socially, and spiritually, please sign below to signify that you understand and pledge to the statements above.
